The Tombstone Mines.

Last May nine claims in the Tombstone district in Pima county, were bonded by Richard Gird and the Sheffield Brothers, the locators, to Col. Tozer of Tucson, for the sum of $90,000 for a period of forty-five days, and no work to be done by either party on any of the claims. This bond was transferred at once to Haggin and Teller of San Francisco, who sent expert agents to examine and report on the property. The time given however, was too short for the proper examination and report to be made by the experts, so an extension was granted by the owners until August 1, in consideration of a large daily royalty for the privilege. On August 1 the money was not paid as stipulated but further time requested. This was refused so that the sale is off for the present.

The case of these mines is an interesting one. The claims were located near the end of last February, and but very little work for development done, not over a few hundred dollars in all. The claims have been examined by a large number of experienced mining men such as Col. Tozer, Ike James, Joe Clark, John Sevenoaks, R. H. Stretch, J. H. White and others and without exception they all reported in favor of the claims. Ninety thousand dollars is a very large sum of money to give for an undeveloped property, but when it is known that on the surface alone there is some $50,000 or $60,000 in sight, and that two weeks work might expose $1,000,000 at least, the purchase would be exactly what Ike Clark reported "the most brilliant gamble he ever saw."

For the interests of the section containing these claims we regret that the sale was not consummated. The would-be purchasers are men of great wealth and with $90,000 paid out they would in all probability push work rapidly, erect mills and make the old lurking place of Cachuise perhaps the most prosperous camp on the coast. This feeling of regret is moreover increased by the fact that we understand the money was ready to be paid over at one time and would have been but for the unwarranted representations of an outside and uninterested party who had never seen the claims.

The owners of the claims have already received sufficient money for their interests to enable them to go energetically to work and open their mines, and being clear headed men, thoroughly conversant with mining and milling, the date when Tombstone will be a large camp will be delayed but a few months at most.

Hon. H. S. Stevens.

Hon. H. S. Stevens is before the people for reelection as Delegate. The voters should not oppose him because of any cry raised by others seeking the same position, or because of anything the zealous backers of his competitors may assert. During the canvass many untruthful charges may and doubtless will be raised. As Mr. Stevens has been an impartial officer, has labored for the best interests of the people of Arizona without regard to locality; has established a high character in Washington for truth and intelligence in representation of the Territory; has acted in all respects honorable alike to himself and Arizona, no swift or unfavorable judgment should be passed upon him by voters either before election or at the polls. All talk about his representing any particular section or interest is an injustice to him and without foundation in fact. He is one of the earliest citizens of the Territory, and but few men have a larger interest in the Territory's growth and prosperity and of course peace, than he has. That he will be re-elected because of these and other reasons, creditable to himself, which might easily be given, there is hardly a doubt.

Silver Shipments.

On the 5th instant, Superintendent Foreman made his second shipment from the 76 quartz-mill, consisting of 20,128 pounds of concentration, and in another week he will ship about ten tons more. The Silver King Company also made a large shipment of concentration on the 6th instant. Both mills are running at their fullest capacity and the results are most satisfactory to the managers.

The Haskin Mining Company has one hundred and ninety-seven packages of machinery on the way to their mill-site in Globe City. The workmen have been busy for some time grading and laying foundations, &c. If the company's intentions are executed as we believe they will be, Globe district will soon have another good mill.

We understand that the stage robber who collected three dollars from us last week was trailed directly back to Tucson. The parties at the Point of Mountain ranch say the highwayman watered his horse at the well twice on the day of the robbery. He had a black horse. It would seem that with all these points our detectives ought to apprehend the offender.

We notice six packages of furniture have arrived in Yuma for the Pima Agency. Colonel Stout evidently intends to be comfortable. We had in tended to improve on our household goods, but since the stage robbery we can't afford it.

Accommodating.

Especially Dedicated to John G. Campbell.

If there is one thing more than another that we do like, it is an accommodating man. A person who is ever willing by a small amount of trouble to himself to favor his fellows, to do away with petty hindrances, and to make people generally feel comfortable is a man to be cultivated. We like to know such men, to have them come round and be sociable. Their company is always enjoyable, and if we were accustomed to speak in the vulgar, we would say they are "bricks." It does us good to notice such men and we are willing at all times to give them a "puff" gratis.

The most conspicuous example of such a man in Arizona just at present is Mr. John G. Campbell of Prescott. If any one feels inclined to doubt this let him look at Campbell's advertisement in the Enterprise of July 20. There is no use of any one telling us that the Enterprise is supporting Campbell, and of course he must in turn support it, because that would be bagging the whole question and be more over, but an additional item to show the man's accommodating nature. There is something about that advertisement which makes us happy, and we regret our space forbids giving it herein for the benefit of our readers. Well it stands out with a cry of war! war! (wah! we suppose) stretching clean across two columns. Wah is a bad thing generally, but we will pass that. Then comes along in a stately manner a line that would do great credit to our Territory if repeated on the floor of Congress, the observation that "John G. Campbell, the pioneer merchant of Prescott, has accumulated a small fortune in the last thirteen years and having nothing else particularly to occupy his time, is now willing to devote himself to the service of his patrons gratuitously."

That is good; in fact it is way up! We are glad to find out that Mr. Campbell has nothing particular to do just now. We greatly feared he was busy. Somehow we thought he was running for some office, delegate we believe, but as "he has nothing particularly to occupy his time," we must have dreamed that. We always believe an accommodating man, and therefore when he says he has nothing to do we must conclude he is not the same man who wants to go to Congress. The man who comes out first at next election will have his time pretty well occupied till November, and particularly will the Congress-headed Campbell find this to be the case. The service is to be rendered gratuitously too. Ah! this of course is another J. G. C. The other one, the chap who we think is running for something, wants $5000 a year and mileage for his services. But let us continue. This service is to be rendered gratuitously, but how? oh yes! now we see. "By purchasing for his patrons in San Francisco, or elsewhere any needed articles at cost."

"mission, by selling them goods without profit and making tinware, &c., at cost of material and labor." Merchants of Arizona, there is a model worthy of following! Won't you all please do that? Do you not also consider your time and experience valueless or are you afraid that your "small fortunes accumulated through the past thirteen years" would not hold out very long in such business, say until after the 5th of November? No gentlemen, no; there is no use of your hinting anything of the kind to us; we don't and won't believe it; it is ridiculous to suppose that all this is but one way of giving a quid pro quo for votes, for that is a bad and wicked thing which no "reform" man, especially of Prescott, would be guilty of. Ah! that was a fine advertisement surely, and not only did credit to the man who gave it, but also to the sheet that so conspicuously published it, and we greatly regret that some friend of the parties interested compelled its suppression from the following numbers of the Enterprise.

Yavapai Bonds, &c.

The Prescott Enterprise prints strong hints that Yavapai's Board of Supervisors is illegally organized, and in this connection this significant inquiry is made:

Who said that the Court-house bonds and the Patterson Road bonds signed by Curtis, as Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Yavapai county, are not worth anything, because he is not the legal Chairman?

Are the Yavapais—or the super-excellent ones represented by the Enterprise—contemplating repudiation?

There are, strange to say, hints about the existence of rings in Prescott. The Probate court is referred to in left-handed ways—or in such language as would ordinarily make a sensitive judge indignant or perhaps uncomfortable.

Alas! with capital, headquarters, new Governor with a suite of sixteen gentlemen, etc., some of the Yavapais are not happy, even in this day and age of peace and reconciliation.

The Sentinel says a special train arrived in Yuma on the 2d instant with Col. Geo. E. Gray, Senator Dennis of Maryland, and a few other guests of the railroad company. They stopped only a few hours.

The project entertained to close the Cosmopolitan Hotel in San Francisco has been reconsidered. The house will hereafter be conducted on the European plan.

The Rio Grande.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—A letter received by General Sherman to-day from General Ord states that General McKenzie has not crossed into Mexico, as has been reported. The river is so high that neither party can cross. Everything quiet on the border.

Michael Reese Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.—The Bank of California this morning received a dispatch from Cavestak, Germany, to the effect that Michael Reese, the millionaire, died at that place yesterday. He leaves an estate approximated at ten millions or more. With the exception of Senator Sharon he was the largest real estate owner in the city. Some years ago he made a will leaving the great bulk of his estate to benevolent institutions.

Death of Cardinal Franchi.

ROME, August 1.—Cardinal Franchi, Pontifical Secretary of State, died at one o'clock this morning.

Monterey Congress.

PARIS, August 2.—The French government at the request of the United States, has invited foreign powers to the International Monterey Congress, to begin here August 10.

New United States Marshal.

The new United States Marshal for Arizona, Maj. C. P. Dake, went up to Prescott by steamboat, leaving here July 28; in fact the sailing of the boat was postponed one day to give him a chance to connect. We augur from this omen that the Marshal of Arizona is henceforth to be looked upon as amounting to something; heretofore the Marshal of Arizona has been regarded a rather small personage—much of course was wrong. Maj. Dake is accompanied by Messrs. Ashmore and King, who will assist him in getting official matters to running in good shape. He had executed a bond with Michigan sureties, but the Attorney General insisted on having another, with solid men of Arizona on it. Maj. Dake says he will have no trouble in getting all the funds required by his office, but that he shall not undertake to settle up any of the accounts of his predecessors. This determination is correct enough in a business light, but it will be very unpopular with all the jury men and witnesses who have had money due them from the United States for months or years.—Sentinel.

TWO HEAVY rain-storms, accompanied by thunder and lightning, swept over the city of Philadelphia on the evening of July 31, doing considerable damage to the Exhibition buildings and the goods therein. A portion of the roof of Wannermaker's establishment fell under the weight of water, but only one salesman was slightly injured. Cellars were flooded level with the street in many places, doing immense damage to the goods stored. Culverts were choked, trees blown down and roofs demolished.
